

“PHENOMENAL!

That is my review of Tom Williams Book, Doorsteps of Hell.

This magnificent book links experiences from Tom’s youth to his success in combat. It provides a foundation for all fathers to develop their sons to be successful in life. Tom’s attention to detail, captured in his journals, allows him to accurately account for his experiences, good, bad, and ugly. His story captures your attention and excites you to go to the next page. Tom is a remarkable storyteller who lays out the critical events and portions of his life and ties them to the realities of brutal combat in Vietnam. Tom’s winning attitude and contagious enthusiasm forces his readers to devour his experiences. Lieutenant Colonel Williams principles and beliefs made him a successful Marine leader. His passion for his Corps comes out on every page. This book is not only a MUST READ for Infantry Leaders (USMC and US Army), but also for anyone developing young men and women to be American leaders of tomorrow!”

– Colonel (Retired) Robert E. Choppa
President, National Infantry Association